CARVOEIRO

THE PERFECT DESTINATION

Carvoeiro is a small village in the western Algarve. According to historical sources, the name derives from “Caboiero”, a fishing village dating back to the Arab-mediaeval . There is evidence of the Roman presence and a long history of military and pirate attacks. Whilst in the past fishing was the main support of the local economy, nowadays the main economic resource is tourism. Built into steep red sea cliffs, this attractive village has grown since 1960. Backed by hills, Carvoeiro centers around a picturesque cove with a sandy and sheltered beach. One kilometer east of the beach is the impressive rock formations of Algar Seco. Steps down the cliffs lead to a series of dramatic overhangs above blow holes and grottoes. The dry and warm climate and breathtaking views make it an ideal holiday destination all year round. Golf and water sports, sailing, fishing, or simply relaxing are some of the various attractions. Among its greatest treasures are its fish and seafood culinary specialties, wines, desserts, and the famous medronho brandy. Set off on a culinary journey that will delight your taste with flavors and sensations you have never experienced before. Traditional and contemporary dishes are available throughout a wide variety of restaurants from typical to Michelin star. Your palate will always remember your visit here.
